Didsbury Keeps Its Dry Reputation

The long looked for and eagerly fought battle over the question as to whether this province wanted a continuance of the Prohibition Act or whether a change was wanted over to a more moderate policy of liquor administration under government control was finished at the polls on Monday.

Didsbury kept up its reputation as a strong prohibition centre by giving a very large majority for clause "A", which was fully expected, although the Moderate forces gained a small increase over the votes risk on in 1915 and 1920. The prohibition forces were well organized in the Didsbury district and their workers were out in large numbers to make their work count on the final day of the struggle. The moderate forces also had some workers out but they fully realized from the first that this action was and always had been a strong prohibition centre and were satisfied with the showing made.

No reports of trouble were received at any time everything seemingly being conducted on the square by both sides.

Didsbury Polls

The two Didsbury polls, Didsbury east and Didsbury west, were held in the Opera House and resulted as follows:

For Clause "A" Prohibition—376
For Clause "D" Moderation—50
Other clauses 9

Returns for the whole of the Didsbury constituency are not in yet, but those so far at hand give a majority for the wet of 905 over all other clauses with 24 more polls to hear from.

Following are the polls so far received in the Didsbury district:

|------------------------|-----|-----|
| Didsbury East | 135 | 27 |
| Didsbury West, 2 polls | | |
| 1 West | 116 | 29 |
| 2 West | 119 | 31 |
| Dog Pound | 36 | 21 |
| Elkton | 19 | 28 |
| Neapolis | 43 | 17 |
| Jutland | 41 | 9 |
| Carstairs | 123 | 104 |
| Waterloo | 64 | 12 |
| Sunnyslope | 56 | 21 |
| Robertson | 40 | 7 |

THE VOTE IN 1915 AND 1920 IN DIDSBURY

The vote in the two former places, Didsbury in 1915 and 1920 were as follows:

|--------------------|--------|
| Dry | Wet |
| 1915—East and West | 231 33 |
| 1920—East and West | 375 64 |
| 1923—East and West | 379 59 |

Your Help is Invited

The response to the appeal for assistance to secure an invalid's chair for a little crippled by in town is meeting with success. There is a long way to go yet, though, in securing the needed amount and every body is invited to assist in this worthy object. Your donation if it is only 25 cents will mean that your sympathy is extended to this little fellow in his great handicap and will be the means of giving him some enjoyment which he otherwise will be unable to get. Send us or bring your donation to the Didsbury Pioneer or to Mrs. H. W. Chambers.

Province Votes Wet By Big Majority

Even the moderationists are dumb, founded at the big turnover from dry to wet exhibited by the vote on Monday. The largest vote ever polled on a liquor question was given on Monday very decisively and it was not a question of the urban centres giving a large wet majority but the rural sections as well helped to swell the tremendous majority of 30,000 which it is expected will be reached when all polls are heard from. The total vote polled is not known exactly yet but over 100,000 were accounted for on Monday night and it is expected that when the returns are complete it will go to 160,000.

On Wednesday the majority known in favor of Clause "D" stood at 25,131 but there were a great many scattered polls to hear from which are expected to hear this majority up a good deal higher.

The Calgary constituency broke all records of any election held in the city and gave a majority for clause "D" over all other clauses of 7,512.

Edmonton according to returns to hand gave a majority of 3,500.

Lethbridge 1,549 majority for clause "D", Medicine Hat about 1,000.

From Egypt to Palestine

By Mrs. D. C. Eby

Egypt is the land of golden sand, mystery and sunshine that seems to melt about things, casting a magic spell over palm trees, camels, minarets and ancient monuments.

Someone has said that one might enjoy seeing the East were it not for the natives, who often make themselves a pest. They constantly thrust themselves before one, obscuring one's vision. As you walk along the street, one tries to sell you postcards, another begs you to buy dates, a third thrusts ready strings of beads under your nose, while a fourth begs you to let him take you for boat ride. Merchants come forth and strive to direct your footsteps into their stores. A guide pulls your arm and pours into your ear a tale of the wonders to be seen if you will but engage his services. Or perhaps a cab driver follows you, keeping his horse's nose unpleasantly near the back of your neck.

If you pause for one moment to view any strange sight, several boot blacks take possession of you, and each tries to secure a hold on one of your feet. You protest and move away time and again, but each as persistently follows making dashes at your shoe with his brush. One grabbed a handful of dust from the street, sprinkled it over Mr. Eby's shoes, and then begged him to see how badly his shoes needed attention.

British Empire Preferences

The ties that hold the British Empire together, or rather the fact, in any form and without constitutional obligation, are a source of constant worry to some people and a few newspaper and magazine writers seem to take under a delusion that to them has been entrusted the task of saving the Empire from speedy dissolution.

One group advocates the creation of an Empire Parliament, with Ministers of the Overseas Colonies resident in London, a common foreign policy, and a definite scheme of Empire defence, naval and military. In other words, the group stands for a greater degree of centralization. Unless this is at all, we are not the Empire we have known for so long.

Opposed to this policy, certain other publicists seem to suffer from a continual nightmare that the liberties and autonomous powers of the Dominions are really in danger and that a serious effort is being made to place the outlying portions of the Empire absolutely under the thumb of Downing Street.

The truth is, of course, that both these groups are unnecessarily alarming themselves, while at the same time wasting valuable time and good paper and ink in endeavoring to produce the picture of something which is not occurring there in the slightest.

The British Empire is, after all, a human community with a healthy family of grown-up sons. While these sons are very free chaps, money beyond what they need and directed their own thoughts and actions. But as the boys grew up, they were gradually given greater liberties of decision and action on themselves. That is, the Empire has not and continues to evolve in exactly the same way as a family grows. As father or mother desires, the nature is reared and taught, or sets the children grow up, develop character, become self-reliant, independent and responsible.

In the family circle it is not demanded that as the children grow up they shall show some formal document declaring their love and loyalty to father and mother and further promising to dedicate certain duties towards them and accept certain responsibilities on their behalf.

That love and loyalty exists, and that it is all that is to it. No matter how the children may grow up, no law can succeed around the world that may be, and irrespective of the individual freedom which may be developed by each, there yet remains a common bond which remains strong and unbreakable. In principle their other interests are due, and each and all can rely on the others. Who benefits one indirectly, benefits all, although not necessarily to the same extent, and loss to one indirectly and adversely affects all.

The same principle holds good in the case of the British Empire. The analogy is perfect. Australia may be able to integrate its economy which only recently it has left Canada. But if Australia in working out that particular problem gains in strength and becomes more contented and prosperous, it makes for Canada's good indirectly. If anyone doubts this, let him recall what the strength of each of the Dominions meant to the allies in the Great War when combined they proved over one million soldiers in the field, and as Lloyd George declared at a dinner the other day, had it not been so the history of the world would have been a different one.

There may be times and occasions when the interests of various parts of the Empire may come into conflict, but as individuals arise when the interests of individual members of a family do not coincide with each other but always diverge. This would happen that the Empire, such as an independence, between nations. The benefit to all are members of one family, a growth in power and contribution to each other is shown. There is a willingness to contribute to achieve a mutual policy or give aid to those which in the end benefits all.

There are, however, times when in fact the member countries and each of the Dominions can directly or indirectly, or indirectly, that is, in the form of a common interest, or even a direct, which is then power for peace and food in response resulting in a closer and a less of that sentiment and unity of purpose now characterizing the Empire as a whole.

Other countries are working out policies on their own particular benefit regardless of the effect on other peoples and nations. France came to the rescue for men will and power on Europe. Italy, under the Soviet regime, would destroy the whole world in the "hopes of conquering the United States except a little machine the world in the belief that it is indicative of the power of the Empire.

Why, then, should not the British Empire develop friendly preferences for a power to extend their boundaries between the several parts and thereby come united in strength as such when with strength and are secure to the Empire. And this can be done without allowing the sovereign power or centralization of authority, without in the slightest degree lessening the autonomy of each Dominion, and so on from development, result in strengthening the ties of Empire.

Britain Would Lend Financial Assistance In Dominion Development

London, The British Government has indicated further proposals to the Imperial Economic Conference. There has been offered the Dominions an increased tariff preference on certain articles and one of financial cooperation in development schemes.

The financial proposals come under two heads, the first applying more particularly to crown colonies. (1)—a guarantee of interest and capital invested in development schemes; (2)—an advance of part of the interest over a period in respect to anticipated schemes put in hand before financial help.

The proposals are in reality an extension of the Dominion and the Crown colonies of financial assistance which the British Government has been giving local authorities and public utility companies at home. To the latter, conditions are attached. These are mainly that the enterprise assisted must be for the general development of public utilities similar to those assisted in Great Britain; that development would chiefly have to be accelerated by the adoption of the scheme; that others would be placed in Great Britain; that there would have to be some form of joint responsibility with the overseas government.

The Dominion representatives received the proposals to enable Sir James Cowan observed that Canada was becoming an industrial as well as an agricultural country. Canada was proud to be provided for at present with such public utilities as harbours, railways and electric light plants, to which the proposals were particularly relevant. Further, it would be a difficult to produce anomalously that others for equipment would go to British manufacturers, as Canadian manufacturers would naturally want a chance. However, he did not want to discourage the British Government. The Canadian representative recognized the spirit in which the offer had been made and would consider it carefully.

Primer Martin, of Newfoundland, approved on the principle of the proposals.

Primer, of the Australian Commonwealth, thought the proposals would be beneficial to his country, where there was a limit to the burden of interest which the people could bear. The British Government, and Premier Duff, had shown great statesmanship.

Oil Company Will Continue Operations

Intend to Resume Boring at Fort Norman Next Year

Toronto, The Imperial Oil Company will not suspend operations in the northwest. Vice-President A. M. McQueen who is in charge of production, states that it was the present intention of the company to send in at least one crew to Fort Norman next year with a view to deepening the discovery well or sinking a deep hole alongside it.

It is also possible that work will be continued on the well at Blue Fish Creek, which is down 455 feet, but which was left alone this season through lack of drilling crews. Two other wells sunk at the Fort Norman district, numbers C and D, are both understood to have been abandoned.

Ontario Will Float Forty Million Loan

Bonds Will Be Offered In Other Provinces As Well

Toronto, Following the successful marketing of the Dominion of Canada loan which was an extremely over-subscribed, the province of Ontario has arranged for a syndicate to handle a $40,000,000 loan. In a statement issued, W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer, announced, "having concluded arrangements with a strong syndicate to handle $40,000,000 province of Ontario five per cent. bonds due at the end of 25 years."

It is understood that the price is considerably better than the province received by public tender for the proposed issue of $15,000,000, and declined recently. The bonds will be offered not only in Ontario, but in the other provinces as well.

Reduction Of Freight On Grain Shipments To Pacific Coast Ports

For Empire Unity

Vancouver, B.C., Decision of the rail way board to grant a 10 per cent reduction in western grain rates is apparently a temporary arrangement to aid the marketing of this year's grain crop, and in no way affects British Columbia's appeal to the Privy Council for an abandonment of rates generally. Premier Oliver explained in a statement.

"I do not consider this ruling in any way affecting the merits of our general appeal, but it is in the nature of an immediate step to meet a condition which could not very well wait until a decision on the merits of our general appeal is reached," he explained.

"Our appeal for abandonment of rates generally is still before the Privy Council and is not presently affected by this decision."

Oliver, "I am entirely in agreement with the contention of the province of British Columbia and Alberta," said Hon. Frank Oliver, of 55 members, in the parliament descending from the majority decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners on export grain rates from the province.

"The majority judgment, in which the other members of the board concurred, making reduction of 10 per cent on the export rates on grain from the Pacific provinces to the Pacific coast," Commissioner Oliver stated that the reduction was inadequate. Mr. Oliver disagreed with the contention of British Columbia that a 10 per cent reduction was adequate and would bound rates in all cases on a parage basis, holding that the comparison was valid only where exporting conditions were on an approximately equal basis.

Reported that Indians Will Participate in Killing Buffalo at Wainwright

Edmonton, The famous "Stagecoach" of the plains, the wild, untamed, head stomping, with their own men, the soldiers, equipped to their copper work, to be a very picture of the plains of the past, and the soldiers, equipped to their copper work, to be a very picture of the plains of the past.

Such scenes as "Big Game," "The coming of the white man," will be filmed again in Alberta in a fortnight's time when the Cree Indians from the Indian reserve near Wainwright will be taken to the Wainwright Buffalo Park to help in the execution of some of the 2,000 and more already destined by the Government for slaughter.

Heating that the buffalo herd was to be cut down an American movie firm obtained permission to "shoot" just such scenes as they are capturing, with the help of the Indians, and the movie cameras will be one part of the picture.

The Hudson Bay Company's manager at Edmonton, C. Murray, was approached to help in obtaining the Cree, with the result that J. O. Priest, of that company, has arranged for 150 reduction to erect their traps at Wainwright as soon as they have gathered in their harvest, the Indians being reserves.

Needless to say, the arrangement suits everybody, as the Government has to reduce the herd, the movie men want the picture, and the reduction will be paid for their work, in addition to being included to death to get the chance to hunt buffalo.

Work of photographing the herd is at present being carried out in the park at Wainwright, and the picture corporation is prepared to spend $5,000 on the scene with the last (the scene) but the real excitement will not commence until the Indians arrive, under Mr. Priest.

There are two railroad stations to the Parkettes with a total capacity of about 850.

Lloyd George Wants to See British Empire Strong and Thrifty

Toronto—An Empire measure was delivered by David Lloyd George, the war-time premier of Great Britain, during his visit to the city, whose contribution to the world war was one of the most notable in the entire Empire.

Expressing thanks for the aid given in the war by Toronto and Canada, he made a plan for unity within the Empire and among all its constituent parts, but that Britain may be strong in critical days.

Conditions in Europe, he suggested, were such that he feared unless something intervened there might be another catastrophe.

"That's why I want to see the British Empire strong, efficient," he declared, "so that when the cry of war goes in the British Empire will say 'Halt!' and then the cry of war will stop."

Canada Impresses Swiss Editors

Visitors Think Country Offers Splendid Opportunity For Emigrants

Montreal—"We have been deeply interested in the many things we saw in Canada and believe there are splendid opportunities in this country which should appeal to those of our people who desire to cultivate and develop," declared Ernest Rietman, editor of a newspaper for the party of Swiss editors who have been travelling through the Dominion as guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Vancouver appealed to Rietman, "It should be come a wonderful part when it is developed," he said.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor, I took the Vegetable Compound and it helped me. I feel better now. I know you will feel better too." Mrs. Thompson, 303 Lizzie St., Winnipeg, Man.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a general feeling of uneasiness, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years provided its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lowell, Ontario, for a copy of "The Pinkham's Private Text-Book on Women's Diseases." "Aliments Peculiar to Women." C

Around The Town

The Mountain View Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Fulton, on Thursday afternoon, November 15th, at 2 o'clock. All members are cordially invited to attend. Roll Call to be answered by some thoughts bearing on Thanksgiving.

The many friends of Mr. W. A. Austin will be sorry to learn that the death of Mrs. Austin occurred in the Didsbury hospital on Friday after a sickness illness extending over two weeks. Besides her husband she leaves a little daughter and a sister, Mrs. J. H. Lowry, of Didsbury, and a mother and father, in Vancouver to mourn her loss. The remains were taken to Vancouver on Sunday for interment.

Mr. A. Brusso, secretary of the Mountain View Municipality, and Mr. A. McNaughton, secretary of the Westerdale Municipality attended the Municipal Convention held at Edmonton last week. They report a very successful meeting, over 100 members being present, and state that there was no radical change asked for in the Municipal Act. The most important was in the Hall Taxation Act which will have to be passed by the government before becoming law.

Fatal Accident Happens to Old Resident

The sudden death of Mr. Gottlieb Schultz, another old timer of the Didsbury district, came as a shock to most people on Thursday last when he succumbed to pneumonia caused by an accident which he suffered on Wednesday.

It seems that Mr. Schultz, who was living with his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Snyder, west of town, had gone out to the barn to feed a horse and climbing a ladder to get into the hay mow must have slipped and fallen on to the earth floor of the barn. How it really happened will never be known as he was found unconscious shortly after by his daughter who missed him and went out to find him. Mr. Schultz was badly bruised about the head and on one side which injured the lungs and caused pneumonia to set in which resulted in death. Dr. Evans was called immediately but nothing could be done to save his life.

Mr. Schultz came here with his family about twenty years ago from Minnesota. He was of rather a reserved disposition but a solid, dependable citizen and a staunch member of the Evangelical church. His wife predeceased him in 1915 and he leaves four sons and three daughters to mourn the loss of a devoted father. Edward, in Washington; Mrs. Luella Witsky, Red Wing, Minn.; Phillip, Didsbury; Mrs. Wm. Watt, H. C. Herman, Didsbury; Albert Calgary, and Mrs. W. W. Snyder Didsbury.

Funeral services for the late Gottlieb Schultz were held in Zion Evangelical church, Didsbury, Alta. at 2.30 p. m., Tuesday, November 6th. The pastor was assisted by Rev. McNair, Traub and Gugin. The large attendance and the beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

would children. This policy may work out best, however, in the long run, even if it does not bring about peace and order as rapidly.

Egypt is the gateway to Palestine, and much more so now since the British built a railway across the desert during the war. Taking the train at Port Said, an hour's journey along the Suez Canal, up and down which many boats were passing brought us to Kantara West. Here we left Egypt, passed the Customs, and crossed the canal in a small row boat to Kantara East. We walked for some little distance across the sandy desert to the only hotel in the place. Kantara was the largest military encampment the world has ever known, two hundred and eighty thousand troops being kept there during the war.

There is no train during the day from Egypt to Palestine, so we had to cross the canal, and walked across to this encampment in dense Egyptian darkness. Here we had our first taste of a new life, as fruit was sold in bananae butter and fried. We could not tell by the taste whether it was meat, vegetable or fruit, but finally decided that it tasted like a combination of fish and apple. We asked the Egyptian who served us what the name of it was and he said, "Boudier," which left us none the wiser. He then brought a plate of the fruit, and a missionary from Cayton, who was at the next table, explained that they were guavas. They are much like a pear in shape.

Out of the silence and darkness which lay beyond the verandah came shrill sweet and tremulous notes. Then a long-drawn sequence of sounds, The Bedouins were beating their evening songs. The desert wore its spell about us. The burning notes flowed on, even, continuous, wailing pouring over human lips that trembled to the throbs of the passionate Arab heart. For so the Oriental translates his thoughts and feelings into music. An Indian doctor, who was also a Hindu musician, travelled on the boat with us. He explained to us, at some length, the superiority of Oriental music which he thinks is very loud and harsh, while an Easterner can enjoy three hours of the native melodies, and feel not tired, but rested. A native musician must spend the first hour in working his audience into a sympathetic mood, for which they can settle down to enjoy it properly. He then gave us an evening of Hindu music, which I fear we did not properly appreciate. Nevertheless it is good for us occasionally to hear what the Orientals think of us.

We were now in Palestine, where the footstep of migrating tribes, conquering and crusading hosts, exiles and captives had been. Over this ancient and historic ground we were to continue our journey towards Jerusalem.

News About Turkeys

Advice to hold their turkeys until the end of November or the first of December is offered to farmers by the manager of the produce department of P. Burns and Co. Ltd., who states that the best price will be obtained at that time and the birds will be in the best condition.

It is pointed out that the turkeys must be in the hands of the local shippers not later than December 7. If they are to be properly dressed and shipped to the markets of Chicago, Montreal, New York and other centres, where the demand is great, est. If the birds are not received by the shippers in time to get them to these centres, the local markets are glutted and the farmers and shippers alike lose money.

This was the condition late in December a year ago, says the dealer.

ers, and money was lost by farmers and shippers as a result. The local markets are not large enough to take care of the supply and outside markets must be secured if the most money is to be realized on turkeys.

Fattening Turkeys

In less than six years we find Alberta has changed from an importing to one of the largest exporters of turkeys for the Christmas trade. With the ever increasing volume of turkeys, roughly twenty-two cars in 1922, for which a market must be found, we are faced with various marketing problems, which when the volume was small were of little consequence. Of these marketing problems the one which is most outstanding is that of "finishing for market or fattening".

Our main outlet for Alberta turkeys is the eastern trade in Montreal, Toronto and eastern United States cities, as well as Vancouver to the west. These distant markets and the only markets available are expensive markets to get at. The cost of the long rail haul calls a considerable hole in the gross returns from the sale of the birds, consequently, it is imperative to secure a good substantial price per pound. Turkey raising is particularly applicable to Alberta climatic and geographical conditions, where the climate is dry and crisp and range abundant.

MARKET REQUIREMENTS

The markets demand and pay a premium for finished turkeys. To fatten turkeys the range must be restricted, by taking the birds off the range and enclosing them in a small building or enclosure will put them of their feed and instead of gaining they will lose weight. The run must be restricted gradually and it is generally believed that liberal feeding in clean troughs in the same place and at the same time will cause the birds to naturally restrict their wandering. During the last two weeks the birds may be confined in a small field or large airy barn. It should not be forgotten, however, that turkeys are of a feeding nature, so that complete exclusion does not agree with them. Finishing for market does not necessarily mean putting on layers of fat, but rather conditioning the birds so the meat will be juicy and tender. The sheaves which are so prominent on the round birds of the prairies often up and largely disappear during the fattening period. Well finished birds have plump breasts and are well covered with meat on all parts of the body. Such birds dressed, demand from seven to fifteen cents a pound more on the eastern markets.

In the corn producing sections of the States large quantities of corn are used. Now corn is dangerous unless introduced into the feeding rations gradually. Old dry corn, however, can be fed without danger of digestive disorders setting in.

A mixture of grains is always best for poultry. They tire of one variety and go off their feed. On the Canadian prairies we have abundance of wheat, oats and barley, all of which mixed together in equal proportions, are excellent for fattening turkeys and can be fed in different ways. However, the best results are obtained by grinding the grains and mixing a wet mash one feed ahead with sour milk, butter, milk or water. Boiled potatoes are excellent to mix with the mash and largely take the place of corn. It is important to mix with the much a little fine gravel and always keep fresh water before them. Towards the end of the fattening period, grease or scraps of cooked meat may be added to the ration. Never give the birds more than they will clean up in half an hour. Left-over food should be removed.

Some authorities strongly advocate giving whole grain for the evening meal. It not only takes longer to digest and serves during the long fall nights, but also tends to keep the crop and gizzard in a sweet and healthy condition.

Fattening or finishing turkeys in this way should continue for six or eight weeks, after which time they should be heavy, fat and tender and as a consequence, care should be taken not to bruise them enroute to market or during killing and dressing operations.

Farmers Make Splendid Response

ALBERTA FARMERS MAKE SPLENDID RESPONSE IN OFFERING WINTER WORK FOR BRITISH HARVESTERS

Will Take All There Are And More

The Honourable J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, recently decided to utilize the machinery of the Soldier Settlement Board in an endeavour to locate opportunities for immigrant to keep these Britishers in our midst. The Board's field men were instructed during their rounds through the country to list those farmers who were willing to take a British Harvester for the winter months at a reasonable wage. The response was immediate and the results exceeded all expectations. In fact to the extent that it became necessary to wire instructions to step this canvass after it had been running two weeks. During this time more than four thousand three hundred permanent winter positions were offered these Britishers in Alberta alone. The vacancies themselves were expressed by the striking contrast of conditions where a preliminary canvass disclosed the overwhelming number of jobs waiting willing hands and the conditions in the Old Land they had recently left where the rates of the usual, played inflated over one million and a quarter.

How To Get The Job
The Soldier Settlement Board have thirty-eight field agents scattered throughout the small towns of Alberta. Every field agent has a list of the vacant positions in his district and will be glad to direct any British Harvester who applies to him.

The Board's field agent has in turn notified the Railway Station Agent nearest where the job is located and station agent has therefore been advised of the vacancies in his immediate locality. The Board's main offices in Edmonton and Calgary have complete lists of the vacant positions in the Province and are therefore able to co-operate closely with the Employment Service of Canada with whom copies of the complete lists of opportunities have been filed. Thus the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian National Railway, the Employment Service of Canada, The Soldier Settlement Board representing the Immigration Department of Canada and other useful and willing organizations have combined in a co-operative endeavour with one object in view, namely to insure winter employment for these newly arrived Britishers at reasonable wages so as to avoid any possibility of discomfort or distress amongst them and to endeavour to retain them in our midst as new Canadians.

Grain men are talking about Alberta exporting 200,000,000 bushels of wheat or thereabouts. It is difficult to comprehend such a volume. The longest train on record, over a mile long, was reported a short time ago. It carried 185,000 bushels. It would take 1,000 grain trains to carry 185,000,000. With ten such trains a day it would take 100 days to move out the wheat in this province—Manning-Albertan.

Despite all the thrills and excitement, and trouble and disasters, the German republic still lives and is stronger than it has been since its creation. There is no suggestion that the German people turn back to kaiserism. That is one of the most promising things about the European situation.—Manning-Albertan.

AROUND THE CORNER

Around the corner I have a friend, In this great city that has no end; Yet days go by and weeks rush on, And ere I know it, a year has gone And I have seen my old friend's face, For life is a swift and terrible race, He knows I like him just as well As in the days when I rang his bell And he rang mine.

We were younger then, And now we are busy tired men—Tired with playing a foolish game; Tired with trying to make a name, "Tomorrow," I say, I'll call on Jim, Just to show I'm thinking of him," But tomorrow comes—and tomorrow goes.

And the distance between us grows And grows, Around the corner yet miles away—Here's a telegram, sir, "Jim died today!"

And that's what we get and deserve In the end, Around the corner—a vanished friend.—Chas. Hanson Towne.

NOT TO UNDO HAIR

"Bobbed hair may be deemed, but I know one person who is going to wear her hair bobbed regardless of all the new fashions that may be created," declared Viola Dana, the little Metro star, who asked when she was going to allow her hair to grow long again.

"A style of hairdress is one thing every girl should decide for herself. The reason some are changing is that bobbed hair is not becoming to them. If it is fitting to a girl's type and affords her so much more comfort and necessitates much less care, I can see no reason why she should let it grow out just because it is announced styles are changing."
